Antioch attracts new residents

How and why the town is growing (Editor's note: Antioch is growing. We all know that. But exactly how is it growing? And why? This is the first article in a series by Linda Barnes, whose research has provided specific answers to some of the general questions residents have been asking themselves about their community.)

By LINDA BARNES

To many, Antioch is an ideal community. The location, size, services, people and atmosphere of the community all provide attractions not only for those already living in Antioch but also for those who are wanting or needing to relocate.

Because of the community's numerous attractions, Antioch is rapidly growing. From a small rural town and summer resort area, Antioch has changed tremendously. Today, it continues to change in ways and directions that will further alter the complexion and character of the village and township.

While still retaining its appealing "small-town atmosphere," Antioch is definitely moving from a rural to a suburban community. Farm-land is being sold, frequently by retired farmers who wish to supplement their incomes. Subdivisions are being set up. Houses are being constructed. And the rest of the

Drizzle doesn't dampen sawmill festivities

The floats, clowns, bands, marchers, balloons and horses were a little on the soggy side Sunday as they paraded down Main Street for the Hiram Buttrick Sawmill dedication.

But the showers didn't stop the show - kids ate their Rotary Club hot dogs in the misty rain anyway. Phyllis McMillen's models in historical costumes adorned Gage Brothers park like true pioneer women, and more than 1,000 turned out to get a glimpse of the new sawmill in action.

The parade itself progressed smoothly despite the chilly, wet weather Mother Nature decided to give Antioch on the big day.

Grade school band members said they didn't mind the weather at all and Viking football cheerleaders said they thought it was funny when parade-watchers would yell to them how cute they were.

THE MEDINAH Black Horse Troop looked splendidly groomed and well-trained and the Bernie's Corner float provided some good polka dancing music.

The clowns on go-carts and the men who threw candy to the crowd delighted youngsters while political candidates walked the route to make new acquaintances.

Local merchants and civic groups produced beautiful floats which added to the parade's color and those people instrumental in organizing the whole sawmill project rode in cars, smiling and waving at villagers.

WHEN THE PARADE swung around on Cunningham Drive and came to a halt at the sawmill, residents were already busily milling around the beer stand sponsored jointly by the Lions Club and the Rotary, and kids had balloons and bags of popcorn in hand.

The crowd then lined up against the park fence, dads balancing kids on their shoulders and old-timers straining to look over heads as Ken Smouse of PM&L Theatre sang the national anthem to the music of the Antioch High School band.

Then came big-yellow-ribbon-cutting ceremonies and speeches by Mayor Mike Haley, Bill Brook, bicentennial chairman, and State Sen. Karl Berning (Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal was unable to make it because of the poor flying weather).

Residents then formed a line on the park sidewalk for tours of the sawmill.

WHILE THEY WAITED, Antioch parks and recreation players put on an entertaining short play right on the rocks of the Sequoit Creek entitled "The Sawmill," featuring portrayals of Hiram Buttrick and the Gage Brothers.

Recreation Director Sue Koppa and Dr. Al Bucar unveiled the "time capsule" to be dug up 100 years from

The summer fun is just beginning

After the sawmill celebration, what can Antioch do for an encore?

Well, folks, that's never been a problem in this town.

Next Sunday, it's the annual Arts, Crafts and Antique Fair, sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce & Industry.

Thousands are expected from here and surrounding communities, not to mention nearby states.

The 6th annual event also is being called a "Community Summerfest" this year and the gathering begins from 7 to 11 a.m. with a pancake breakfast on Broadway, between Lake and Orchard streets.

In addition to the display of arts, crafts and antiques, the Summerfest will include entertainment throughout the afternoon and evening.

(By the way, Mayor Mike Haley has promised good weather for this coming Sunday.)

The schedule of events appears on page 12

Police to curb public profanity

A concentrated special effort will be made this summer by the Antioch police department to keep profanity out of public places, Chief Chuck Miller said.

"We have already made arrests and we intend to make more," he said, in order to keep profanity under control. He explained that profanity in public is regarded as disorderly conduct by police and will be treated as such.

Miller said a minimum bond of $35 to $100 will have to be posted for juveniles and adults who are arrested for this offense. Public places include such areas as Oakwood Knolls beach, the downtown shopping area and village parks.

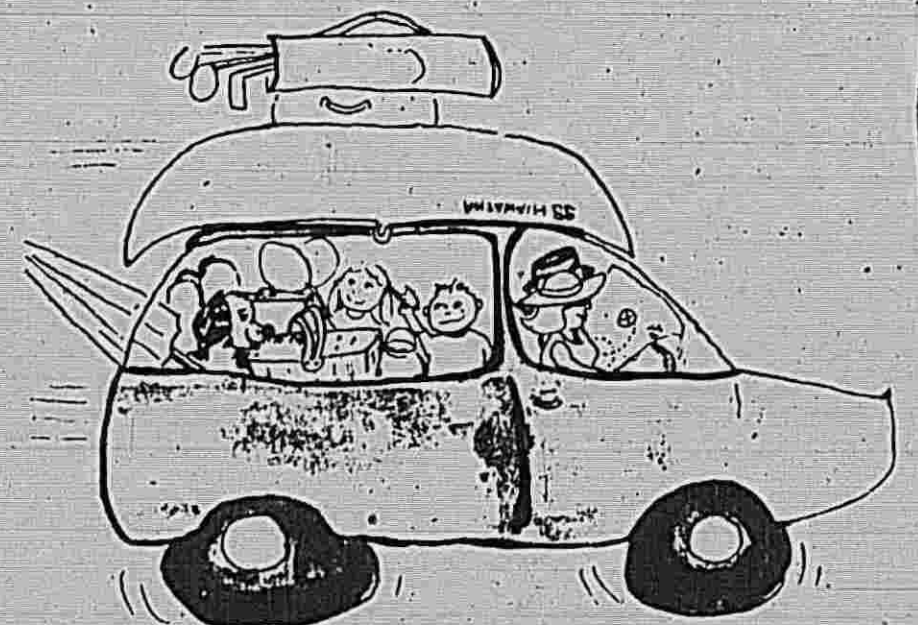

THE POLICE DEPARTMENT has been receiving a lot of profanity complaints, he said, and the public is asked to assist police in controlling it. Miller said people should call police about a profanity complaint when it occurs.

"Too often we hear a week afterwards that some kids are using profanity," he said and the police are unable to do anything about it.

Residents should go to a phone and call police when they hear the profanity being used, explain to them who is doing it and where, and the police will take the proper action, Miller explained.

anywhere from $35 to $100 and then will be assigned a court date. If found guilty, the judge can assess a fine up to $500.

"We have arrested a juvenile at the Oakwood Knolls beach already, and unless profanity stops in public places, there will be many more arrests," Miller said.

THE TOWN
CRIER

Everyone knows how cruel our government can be to us, but I got another reminder this week.

I received my annual notice of payment due on my GI life insurance. The note from the Veterans Administration said:

"The new premium is for your increased age."

Another of those so-called "hometown newspapers" is littering our lawns.

This one is called the Courier, a spinoff of the very wealthy Kenosha News. Some of us eventually pick it off our lawns once a week, caked with snow in the winter and soggy with rain in the spring and summer.

So far we haven't found one on our roof, but maybe their carriers will improve.

THE KEY LINE in the Courier, which seems to be an extremely abridged edition of the daily Kenosha News, is right up there on the top of page one:

"Serving: Antioch, Ill., Bassett, Brighton, Bristol, Camp Lake, Genoa City, Paddock Lake" ... and it goes on to list 15 other Podunk Centers in the area.

How did the June 27 edition of the Courier serve Antioch? We found one six-paragraph story inside and it was about an 8-day-old village board meeting.

THERE WERE A FEW errors in the story. The writer apparently guessed that Cheri Lane was two streets, one called "Cherie" and the other called "Lane."

He apparently thought Water Tower was the name of a street, too, because he mentioned the closing of "Broadway Street from Orchard Street to Water Tower for the firemen's dance June 24." That was of especial interest because the Courier came out three days after the dance.

In another paragraph, Poplar Avenue was called Popular Avenue.

The reporter mentioned that Lake County would reimburse the city (we're a village, not a city) $9,000 for $18,000 worth of emergency recording equipment. The $9,000 isn't coming from Lake County; it's coming from Lake Villa and Lindenhurst.

JUST WHAT THIS TOWN needs ... another newspaper "serving Antioch" ... and Pell Lake, Powers Lake, Rock Lake, Wilmet ... you name it, we cover it.

Not 'thanks, Antioch,
but congratulations!'

Mayor Michael J. Haley made an appropriate observation Sunday when he spoke to the large crowd gathered at the sawmill.

"I originally thought my job today was to get up before you and say 'thank you,' but how can I thank people for doing something for themselves? This isn't Antioch's sawmill ... it's your sawmill ... and the proper word isn't 'thanks.' It's congratulations!"

"I am tremendously impressed by what you have done here," the mayor added, "and I know that the thousands of people from miles around who will come to see what you have accomplished will be equally impressed."

THE MAYOR MADE another interesting observation: "Since we began this sawmill, a black man by the name of Haley (Alex) made the word 'Roots' an everyday expression. Actually, this community was a little bit ahead of the rest of the country in that area. This sawmill is a memorial to our roots and, although we didn't use the term, we started 2½ years ago to really explore, as an entire community, men like the Gage Brothers and Hiram Buttrick ... they are Antioch's roots!"

"Once again the Antioch area has distinguished itself," Mayor Haley added. "You have done the improbable, if not the impossible. The idea of this sawmill was conceived 2½ years ago. It was just an idea ... today, it's a reality. Look at it. Can you imagine any other community this size accomplishing a task like this? I can't."

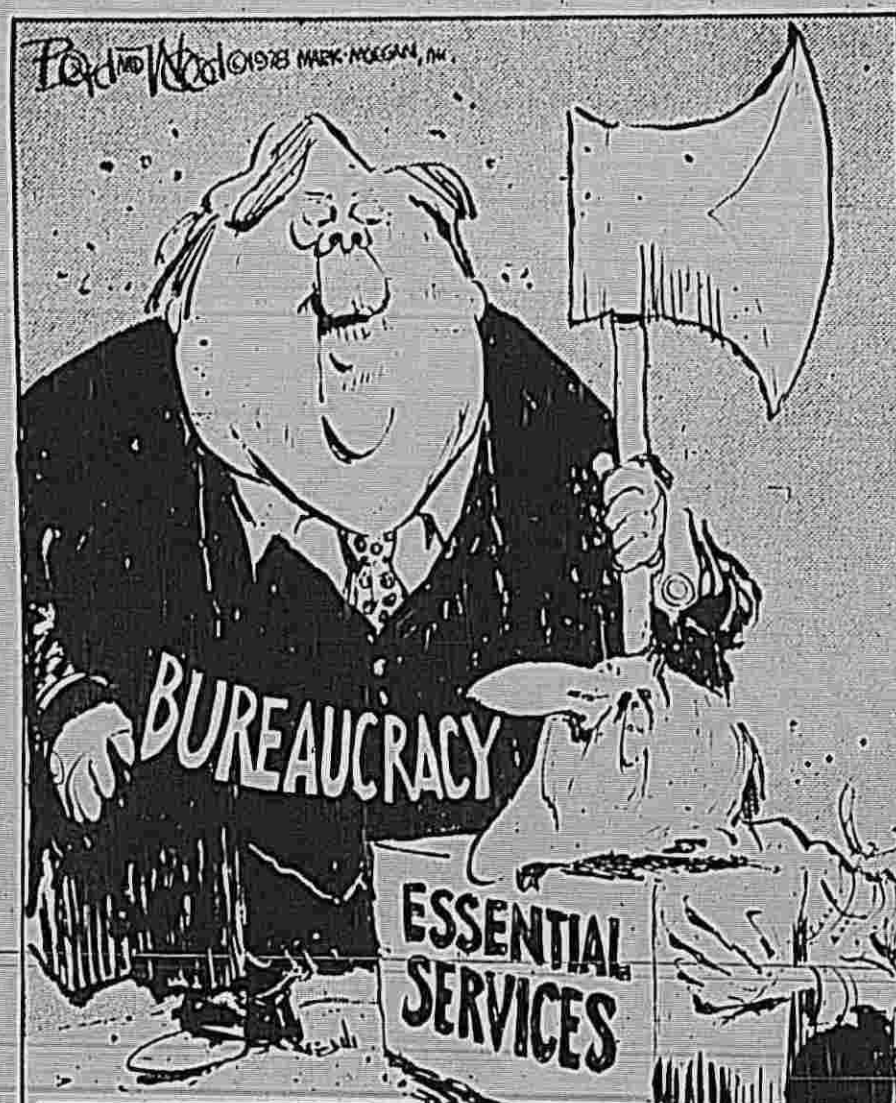

THE OTHER MAIN SPEAKER at the dedication, William E. Brook chairman of the Antioch Bicentennial Commission, told how the idea of restoring the sawmill grew from "maybe a small replica of the original built in 1839 to the beautiful, working historical site that now adds a new dimension to Antioch."

"It could only happen in this particular community," Mr. Brook said. "I don't know one other bicentennial project in the state that equals this sawmill and park."

He added that "a spirit has been maintained here ... the pioneer spirit of helping your neighbor ... the way people always used to pitch in when someone needed a barn or something else built."

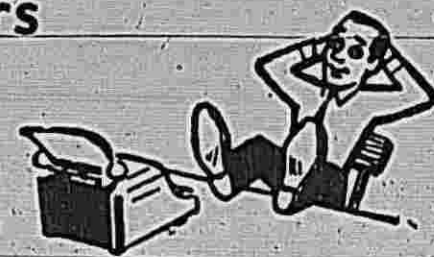

Speaking to the more than 1,000 gathered for the dedication, Mr. Brook pointed out that "somebody out there has an idea ... Antioch needs and always likes to have a new project going ... so if you have an idea just let us know."

Newspapers weren't always

By JERRY PFARR

Each week as we begin writing stories for the next issue of the Antioch News the rest of the staff is interrupted by the sudden laughter emerging from the office of Erlene Pearce.

You see, "The Time Machine," which always appears on page 6, is written by Erlene, an extremely beautiful and talented young woman - in other words, "the Antioch News type" - (around here, they get compliments instead of pay raises.)

And for the "70 Years Ago" department, Erlene is reading copies of the 1908 editions of the newspaper, when Antioch journalism apparently was at its very best.

Erlene's office, incidentally, is the only place in which you can find a 1908 Antioch News. Otherwise, we keep those archives hermetically sealed in a mayonnaise jar on the front porch of the Funk & Wagnalls encyclopedia company.

SO FAR, THIS COLUMN has been merely for introduction purposes. But, stick with me ... it's going to get funny. Trust me. I'm never dull for more than a few paragraphs at a time.

If you haven't been reading Erlene's selections of stories that typify life in Antioch in 1908, you HAVE been missing something.

Consider the item in today's "Time Machine" about Bashful Dan Matthews, the balking bridegroom who was famous for his five previous flights from the altar. Finally, in July of 1908, he gritted his teeth, closed his eyes, clasped the hand of Miss Mary Fraser and said "I do" in Pastor Jones' parsonage. Pastor Jones warned him, "Now, Dan, this is the last time. If you balk this time you needn't come to me to get married again. I won't bother any more with you." But this time, as he and his bride boarded a train for their honeymoon, Dan had a determined look on his face ... according to the great reporters they had 70 years ago. (The newspaper business just isn't what it used to be.)

JUST RECENTLY, WE read in the "70 Years Ago" department that good ol' Parker H. Sercoma was officially banned from the Spirit Fruit Home free-love

'Appeared in public

colony, near Ingleside, because he insisted on appearing in public minus his trousers. It seems he showed up at the colony's banquet in his pink pajamas ... a definite breach of etiquette.

And then there was Adam Roth, whose wife Anna divorced him because he was "afraid of water." The only time Anna saw him use it was as a "chaser," although he usually preferred his whiskey straight. That was okay, Anna said, but she couldn't accept the way Adam ran from water "when it sparkled in a bathtub or basin." He hadn't taken a bath since their marriage in 1901.

MEANWHILE, ANOTHER ANNA (Miss Whitmore, the Grayslake postmistress), was maintaining that she DID NOT open and read the love messages that passed between the Rev. Charles E. Havener, pastor of the Grayslake Congregational Church, and his fiancée.

In the same 1908 issue, Chase Webb was advertising: "See my balgriggen underwear - all sizes."

WHOEVER WAS WRITING for the Antioch News at the time also reported that Mrs. Grace Field, celebrating her 49th birthday, went to Waukegan "where she started bowling up the 'high ones' which eventually landed her behind bars. When picked up on the sidewalk by one of the police officers, Grace handed him one in the eye with her left hand. At the county jail she was met by Sheriff Griffin, who got a kick in the shins for his kindness. After she promised to go and never get drunk again in Waukegan she was turned loose. Grace claimed the only headache she experienced after the lengthy jag was one that originated in the county jail, and was caused by the singing of the famous Lake County jail choir."

NOT AS LUCKY 70 years ago was Jay Drago of Grayslake. Crazy with pain from neuralgia of the stomach, Jay swallowed the greater part of a bottle of Jorse liniment and was still unconscious when that issue of the Antioch News went to press.

But there was good news, too, in those good old days. In May of 1908, Mrs. Grace Snell-Coffin-Coffin-Walker-Coffin-Layman-Love, formerly of Antioch, withdrew her seventh divorce suit and managed a reconciliation with H.M. Love, the latest of her long string of husbands. Said Mr. Love:

"I'm delighted. Life is once more one sweet song!"

That was easy for him to say, but how about poor Coffin?

A newspaper dedicated to people marching to their own drummers.

16-member team

Police duties demand 24 hours

By SUE NASENBENY

Most businesses run an eight-hour operation with days off for holidays, but a few simply cannot afford to.

The 16-member Antioch police department is an around-the-clock operation, with supervisors, policemen and dispatchers constantly on the job to take care of the village.

Duties range from making sure that school children cross the street safely, to cooperating with area rescue squads when an emergency arises, to investigating armed robberies.

The department consists of a police chief, lieutenant, sergeant, supervisor of records, seven patrolmen, four dispatchers and one traffic controller who are responsible for coordinating the enforcement of laws.

THE POLICE CHIEF Chuck Miller, supervises the functioning of all police operations and Lt. Tom Fisher investigates all felonies and serious misdemeanors.

Garnet Cook, the only sworn woman police officer, is supervisor of records and is in charge of all communications between the Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst police, fire and rescue squads.

Garnet and the four dispatchers have at their access about 30 emergency vehicles including 10 to 15 police cars which they can reach and coordinate simultaneously. The dispatchers must man the police desk, telephone and radios 24 hours a day. They include Sandy Domke, Dawn Stanczyk, Sue Ploughman and Diane Delph.

Sgt. Charles Watkins is in charge of the policemen, coordinating response to police calls and patrolling the village.

THE SEVEN POLICE OFFICERS must respond to calls and patrol the village constantly. They include Harold Mason, Stan Revell, Robert Stemm, Walter Mitchell, Ron Allen, Robert Lange and William Kukla.

Elaine Weber is the new traffic coordinator and is responsible for meters and traffic in assisting the busiest intersections, enforcing parking ordinances and maintaining school-crossings.

Police work on a three-shift basis with four men on full strength at any given time, including one dispatcher, Chief Miller said.

MILLER THEN EXPLAINED the chain of events which occur in the police station when a serious crime is reported.

A dispatcher will receive the call from the victim and then question him. "She'll ask preliminary questions so that the police will get as much information as possible to start the investigation," he added.

The dispatcher will then radio-contact an officer on duty who will respond to the victim and take all needed action immediately.

In a serious crime, such as a car theft, the policeman will obtain all the necessary information from the victim and then contact Lt. Fisher, who is responsible for recovering the stolen merchandise and obtaining the proper evidence and information for an arrest warrant.

Miller said he assists Fisher in matters they cannot handle alone. Miller also takes care of personal matters with the public as well as other administrative duties, such as hiring, and proposing ordinances to the village's safety committee.

THE VILLAGE'S POLICE department is now at full-strength, he said. Following is a bit of the background of the people who make up the staff.

Chief Miller has been with the department for the past 12 years. A lifelong resident of Antioch, he was made chief in May of 1978 upon the retirement of the previous chief, Jack Wells. Miller started on the force as a patrolman and worked his way up, holding about every position at one time or another. He lives in Antioch with his wife Carole and two children.

Lt. Fisher has been in law enforcement for the past 10 years. After serving in the Air Force he became a North Chicago patrolman and served as a juvenile officer and

He came to Antioch as a patrolman in June of 1976 and was promoted to lieutenant in May of this year. The Waukegan native lives in Antioch with his wife and four children.

SGT. WATKINS WAS a patrolman in North Chicago for two years before he moved to Antioch and joined the department in January of 1977. He was made sergeant in February of this year and lives in Antioch with his wife and daughter.

Patrolman Mason has been with the police department in Antioch for 14 years. He lives here with his wife and has two married children. Officer Revell has lived in Antioch all his adult life and has been with the department since April of 1973. He is recently married and is looking for a home in the village.

Policeman Stemm was an officer in Downers Grove for four years before he joined the Antioch squad in April of 1977. He lives with his wife and children in Vernon Hills.

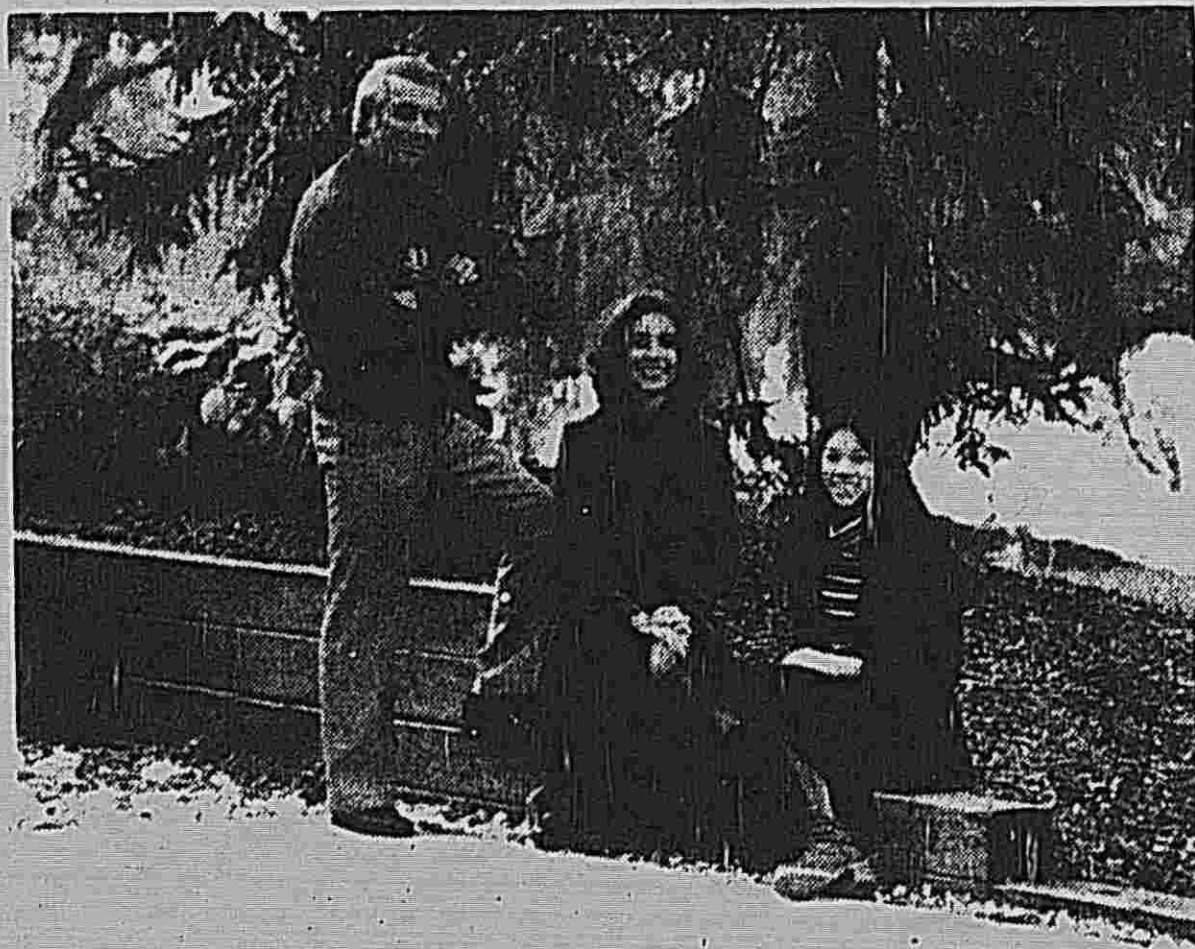

Officer Allen was a North Chicago patrolman for four years before he joined the Antioch squad in April of 1977. He lives with his wife and children in Vernon Hills.

70 YEARS AGO: JULY 2, 1908

Edward J. Heydecker, Republican candidate for State's Attorney, was born on a farm in the town of Newport in Lake County, Illinois. On August 3, 1855, his education was obtained in the country schools and in the Waukegan high school. In 1891 Mr. Heydecker commenced the active practice of law in Lake County and was Assistant State's Attorney for 10 years, subsequently, in 1901, he was elected city attorney of the city of Waukegan. He has always been active Republican, having cast his first vote for Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876.

Ask your milliner to show you the voguish draped turbans in all-white that are so stylish to wear with your dark dresses and suits. It is interpreting true swank to wear all-white millinery even to the veil and the flower trim, or the ribbon banding which tailor included women prefer. However, there is another angle to the mode that calls for a dash of bright color, possibly a vivid green quill or a veil with colorful chenille dots.

Beauty contests were known in Illinois as far back as 1857. One such event held during a celebration near Ottawa, La Salle County, on July 4 of that year for Indian maidens and squaws was the featured event of the day. According to the story, an old Indian chief was given the task of acting as judge. After some deliberation, he made his choice. Stopping before a woman who weighed over 400 pounds and stood six feet tall in her moccasins, the chief placed his hand on her shoulder and proudly said, "prettiest squaw!" She was his wife.

Dr. Edward P. Abderholden, physician-surgeon, has opened an office as general practitioner at 986 Main St. Married, with three children, two boys and a girl and a fourth child expected in August, Dr. Abderholden and his family will reside in the Miller residence on Tiffany road.

ANTIOCH CHEERLEADERS WIN OVER 40 SCHOOLS
The top ranking cheerleading team at the Illinois State Normal University Cheerleading School last week was that of Antioch Township High School. Antioch was the only school to win a first rank each day and was declared the winner at the final contest. Members of the team are Jill Gaston, Judy Maleck, Lynn Veesenmeyer, Charlene Keulman, Sharon Dittman and Elaine Christensen.

Mayor Murrill Cunningham appealed to Antioch citizens to attend the hearing of the Illinois Commerce Commission in Chicago to aid in protesting the removal of passenger service for this village by the Soo Line.

Stroner, village building inspector, and Walt Shepard, superintendent of public works.

The knowledge and long hard hours they gave to the project were the object of most of the day's praise. They were obviously a little ill at ease by all of the attention, because they aren't the kind of men who desire to be in the spotlight.

Yet, when they rode down Main Street on the float that carried the first log to be cut, the crowd lining the parade route gave them the biggest cheers of all.

"This is harder than building the mill was," said Stroner, shaking his head with an almost embarrassed smile.

Dick and "Shep" carried the ball in this community project... they were the Walter Paytons but, like Walter, they would be the first to give the credit to all the rest of you who "blocked for them."

New police employee finds job interesting

Elaine Weber of Antioch started her new job last week as traffic controller, parking meter attendant and crossing guard (during the school year) and said she finds the job "interesting. I like to meet all sorts of people."

Mrs. Weber was a staff member of the Antioch parks and recreation department's pre-school day camp before she became part of the Antioch police department. "I like working with kids, and I enjoyed working at the pre-school and I think I will like working as a school crossing guard," she said.

She added that as a result of her duties as a parking meter attendant, a few people may not like her, but overall she said she tries to be fair. "I'm not really worried about that. I've lived in Antioch for nine years," she said, and her friendships shouldn't be affected.

Mrs. Weber is a native of Milwaukee and has also lived in St. Francis, Wis. where her father was chief of police. She now resides in the village with her husband Tom and two teenage girls.

"I really think the job will be interesting. I like gabbing and meeting all sorts of people," she added.

Thought for Today

IT ISN'T THE incompetent who destroy an organization. The incompetent never get in a position to destroy it. It is those who have achieved something and want to rest upon their achievements who are forever clogging things up.

THE Entertainer

Yes, Yes, on July 27 it's 'No, No, Nanette'

"No, No, Nanette," this year's summer musical comedy at Antioch's PM&L Theatre will open on Thursday night, July 27.

But, first, skits from the play will be presented Sunday, July 9, during the afternoon of the annual Art Fair and Summerfest to be held on Broadway Street.

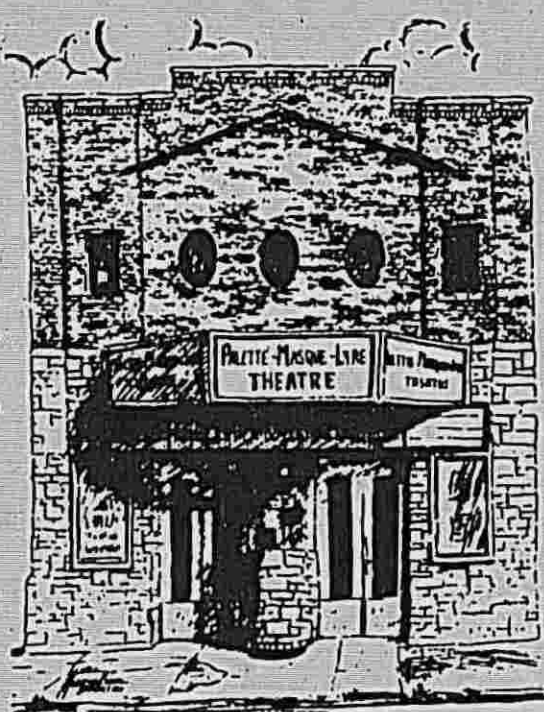

Following opening night at the theatre on July 27, subsequent performances will be given July 28 and Aug. 3-4-5. Curtain time each night is 8:30 p.m.

PERSONS WISHING to make reservations can call 395-3055.

"No, No, Nanette," often billed as "the new 1925 musical," is a comedy that is credited with having started the nostalgia craze in theaters across the country.

The plot leads audiences back to the "never-never land" of the 1920s. A light-hearted story centering on complications and misunderstandings arising from love interests, much of the action takes place at Atlantic City.

THE STORY IS by Otto Harbach and Frank Mandel, but "No, No, Nanette" is best remembered as a framework for the sprightly music of Vincent Youmans. The show features two of the most famous showtunes ever written, "Tea for Two" and "I Want to Be Happy."

Other numbers in the production include "No, No, Nanette," "Too Many Rings around Rosie," and "You Can Dance with any Girl at All."

The PM&L production is directed by Tom Hausman, who soon will announce the full cast.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Well, that's a relief ... despite Sunday's constant drizzle, Dick Stroner, Walt Shepard and I finally have our sawmill dedicated.
What did I have to do with it, you ask? Well, who do you think served as the model?

I especially like the gold plaque inside, which says: "The people of the Antioch area wish to thank Walter Shepard and Richard Stroner for their untiring efforts toward the completion of the Hiram Buttrick Sawmill. Without their unselfish dedication and unequalled ability, this community project could not have become a reality."

IF YOU DIDN'T SEE the collage inside the sawmill, it's worth a trip back to look at it.

Dr. Jim Kopriva, who is quite an artist, assembled it from photographs and other bicentennial memorabilia. It is about 8 1/2 feet long and a little more than 2 feet deep, and hangs on the wall inside the mill.

You'll enjoy seeing pictures of some of your friends in the collage and will be especially surprised to see how Dr. Kopriva used his sense of humor to put certain faces in certain places - for example, the lady whose lovely countenance graces the Statue of Liberty.

I MISSED IT! I was out of town last Thursday and didn't get to see Marilyn Sterbenz interviewed by Chicago's Channel 7 news.

As you probably know, they were talking about the airplane Marilyn won (but never received) when she was on a television show four years ago.

But those in Antioch who saw our village clerk on TV said she was her usual poised and happy self. If we didn't need Marilyn so badly here, we might let her go off and become the television star she obviously could be.

HEAR TELL CARL AND MILLIE NADR are trying to brush up on their Arabic!! The Nadrs were life-time residents of Antioch before moving 2 1/2 years ago. They now live in Alabama.

It seems they received six magazines in Arabic - with no translation. Sounds like they need either an English-Arabic dictionary or an Arab who wants six magazines!

THERE IS SOMETHING SPECIAL about this edition of the Antioch News. On the front page it says:

"93rd Year, No. 1."

That means this paper, born in 1886, has completed 92 years of continuous publication. Contrary to popular belief, I haven't been here all that time. But I hope to be around in 1985 when our front page says:

"100th Year, No. 1."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ON THURSDAY, July 6, to Lee Pearce, who will be 7. Lee was one of the trophy winners in the recent State Bank bike rodeo.

And, on Saturday, July 8, Julie Gutowski and Mary Pfarr - two of the loveliest young ladies we know - will be celebrating their birthdays.

Donna Gutowski, Bernie and Shirley's pretty daughter, will be opening cards and gifts next Tuesday, July 11.

And, in closing, we have a message for all young ladies. Don't forget, Cinderella married for money.

Tree, shrub selection needs advance planning

If you were buying a couch, you'd be sure to plan in advance where you were going to put it. The same applies to trees. To appreciate the real and aesthetic value of the largest and oldest living thing in nature, you need a plan.

Trees and shrubs are important elements in your landscape plan, members of the Illinois Landscape Contractors Association said. Knowing how to select trees and where to plant them can make the difference between a beautiful home setting and chaos.

Decide initially what function you want a tree or shrub to perform. Trees can provide shade, protection, borders and background around the home.

For example, if you need shade against searing summer sun, place large trees relatively close to the house on your plan. However, if you want to provide depth to your property, use a variety of large, medium, and small trees judiciously placed at the sides and rear.

Keep in mind the size and shape of the tree when it begins to mature. A tree may be small when it is planted, but within a few years it grows to a healthy size. Beauty with groups of trees can be achieved when you plan for the tree's ultimate size at planting.

With your landscape plan in hand, the next step is to select varieties that enhance the setting of your home. Basically, there are two types of trees, deciduous and conifer. Wise use of each will bring color to your property in every season of the year.

Deciduous trees lose their leaves in the fall. They dominate the Chicago area because the climate is ideal for their growth. In many communities you will find gigantic specimens of oak, elm, ash, sycamore and others which have lived for centuries. Selecting these kinds of trees for your property continues a Midwestern heritage.

The Morton Arboretum at Lisle says deciduous trees can be classified by annual growth, shape and size. The chart shows examples of various trees as they appear 10 years after planting.

All trees shown here grow well in Northern Illinois. Use this guide in determining which tree should be planted and the location of the tree in relation to other aspects of your overall exterior decoration.

Conifers are trees that remain green year-round. The leaves on these trees are called needles. Since conifers are not native to the Chicago area, landscape contractors advise good site selection to achieve the best visual results. Overuse of conifers destroys the natural look. Judicious planting can give depth, beauty and color to your property.

Shrubs are actually trees - both deciduous and conifer. Generally, shrubs are maintained so they don't exceed 10 feet in height. They should be an integral part of your landscape plan.

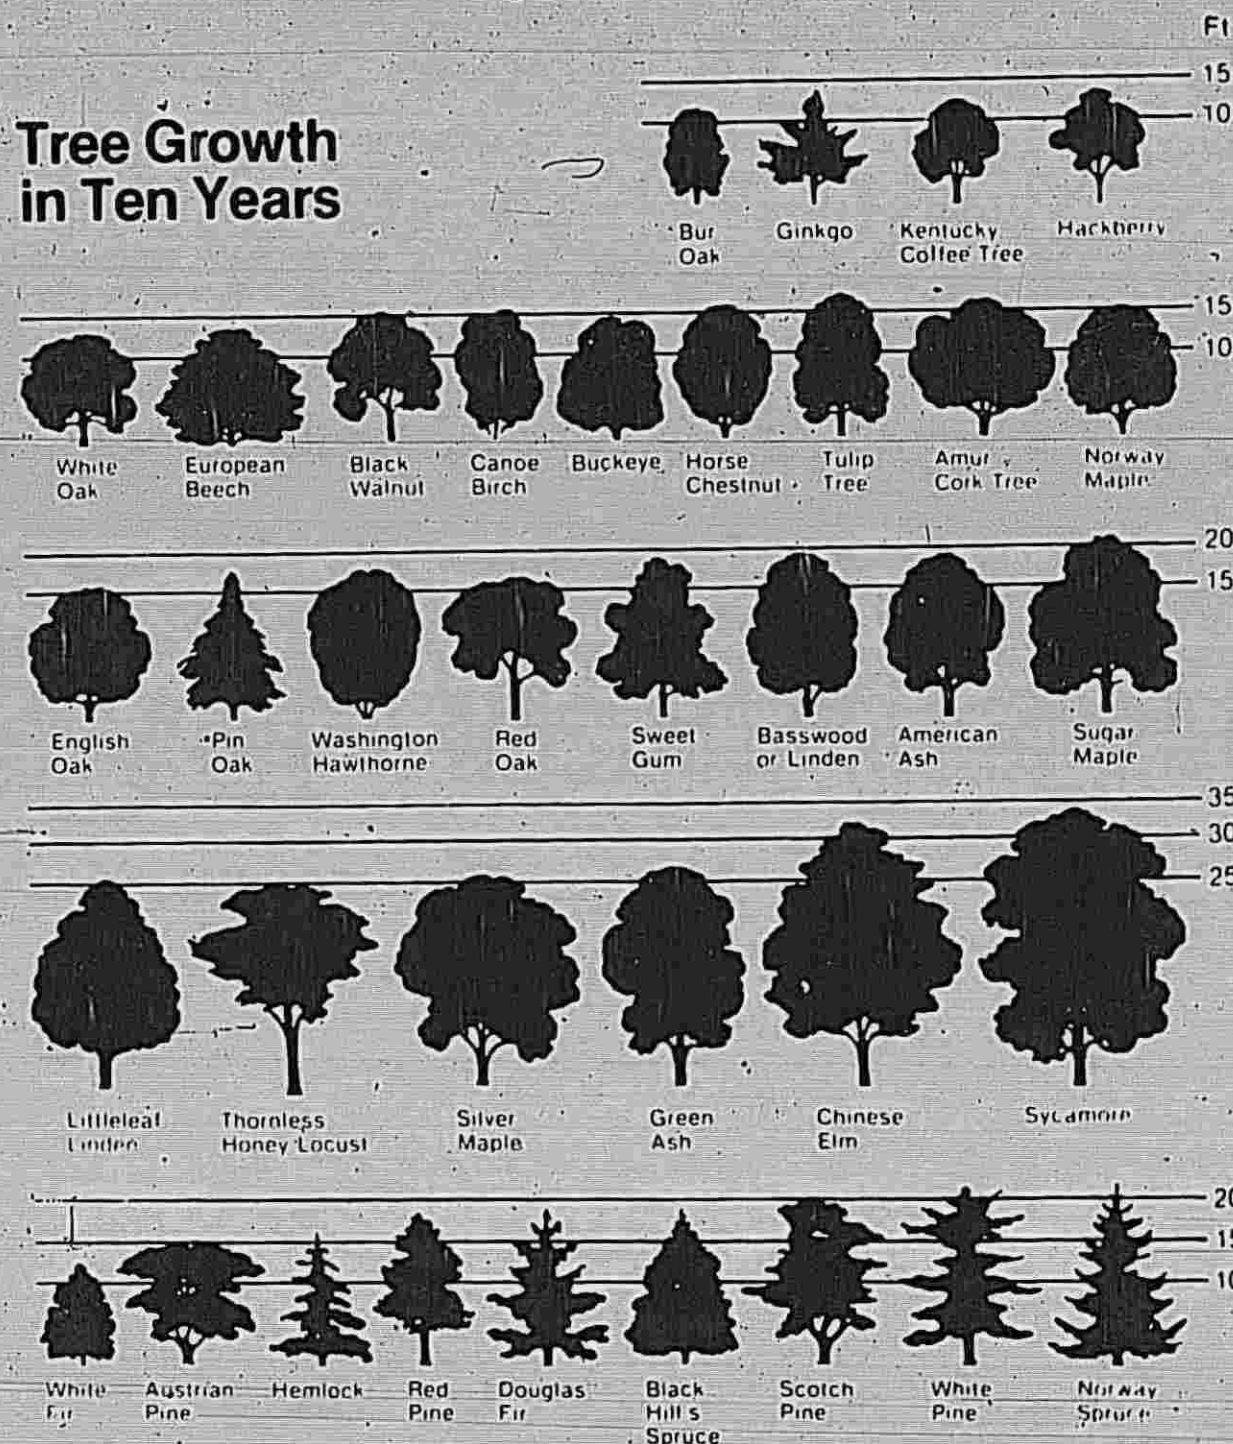

A word of caution, however. Select shrubs that accentuate the lines of your home. For foundation plantings, avoid pyramidal and columnar shrubs between windows or round, pin-cushion shrubs in rows across the front.

Where do you find trees to fit your landscape plan? The Illinois Landscape Contractors Association suggests contacting nurseries, garden centers or a professional landscape contractor. Each has a wide selection of plantings.

Their knowledge of tree varieties, selection, and planting can be a sound investment for your home.

Your landscape plan for trees and shrubs is important. Use it in selection and deciding on the planting location. Remember, the determination of a tree variety hinges on the effects desired and the factors of natural elevation and exposure that the tree requires.

WASHINGTON - Junior high and middle schools participating in the National School Lunch Program may now permit students to take as few as three of the five menu items offered in school lunches, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Sydney J. Butler said. The action is required by Public Law 94-166.

"The purpose of this change is to reduce food waste in the school lunch program," Butler said. "Junior high and middle schools may offer this option to their students upon approval of their local school food authorities. Senior high school students have had the option to choose since June 1976."

"The Department wants all children to eat the complete school lunch," he said. "And in order to achieve this, we encourage schools to offer nutritious meals that reflect children's food preferences."

"However, if junior high or middle school children don't intend to eat certain items in the lunches, they won't be required to accept them on their plates. Previously, they were required to accept all five components of the school lunch."

The five components of the school lunch are milk, bread, meat or meat alternate, and two vegetables or fruits.

Students will continue to pay the full amount for lunches, even if all five items are not accepted. In addition, the amount of federal reimbursement for each lunch served will not be affected by the change.

In February 1978, the Department issued proposed regulations to permit junior high and middle school students to choose as few as three of the five items in school lunches. The Department received 309 comments on the proposal; 267 of the responses favored the change.

All about town ...

By LINDA WALKER

It's great to be back again. In case some of you didn't miss me, I just spent the last seven days in Palm Beach. If you've got a minute, ask me about it. I'll fill you in on THE place to go next year.

HOPE YOU had a great holiday weekend.

Wasn't the parade terrific? Everyone in town turned out to watch it.

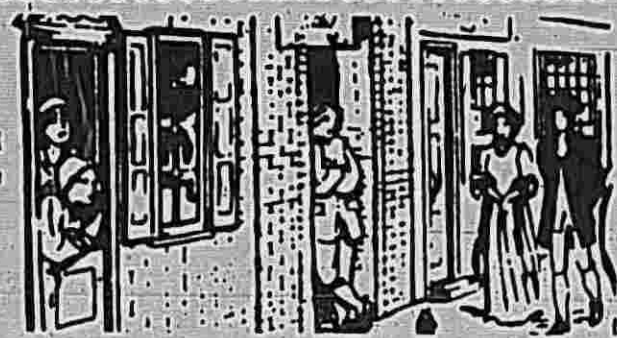

Well, at least the fireworks and firecrackers will be put away for another year.

HAVE YOU WONDERED what was going into the large structure being built on Highway 83 next to Floral Acres? Well, the sign is finally up. Georgetown Furniture will be using it for their warehouse.

It's nice to know the well-known furniture store has grown and is in need of additional space.

JAY DIZIKI OF TIFFANY Real Estate must have some pull with The Man who controls the weather.

Last Friday his firm had a TGIF party. It was to begin at 4 p.m. If you remember correctly, it started pouring around 3:30. Jay shook his finger at the sky and said it had 30 minutes to clear up. I'll be darned, about 2 minutes before 4:00 the rain stopped, and the barbeque had clear sailing.

Next time you're planning an outdoor event, give Jay a call. Maybe he can work the same magic for you.

THE 6TH ANNUAL Summerfest and Art Fair will be held Sunday, July 9, on Broadway between Lake and Orchard streets.

This has been a very successful day in the past, and Pat Sershon, chairperson of the event, is hoping for pleasant weather and a large turnout.

It certainly will be an all-day event ... starting with breakfast and ending with the Antioch Fire Department holding water fights.

The time in between can be filled with viewing the arts, crafts and antiques and, of course, the entertainment to be performed by PM&L is an added plus.

Mark your calendar now for another fun-filled day in Antioch.

now so future Antioch residents will know what we were like. Father Francis Johnson and Rev. Stephen Williams gave the invocation and benediction respectively.

The moment everybody was waiting for finally came as the waterwheel gates were let open to start the saw moving and people walked through the sawmill, with pretty tour guides (Mrs. McMillen's historical models) to assist them.

Because there were so many of them, the visitors had to be ushered through fairly quick, but some lingered on, hanging on to the wooden railing, amazed with the whole log-cutting operation.

Supt. of Public Works Walt Shepard, project coordinator, was busy with log cranking duties inside and the Antioch Women's Club had the job of serving cake from Allendale School to hungry visitors outside.

A LINE OF PEOPLE all the way up the park sidewalk waited to see just what this sawmill they had heard so much about could do, and those on the other end who had just seen it were telling friends what a remarkable thing it was that the community created.

And even if it was a little wet, old Hiram would have been proud of the whole day.

OFFICER LANGE HAD four years of police experience at Round Lake Park before coming to Antioch last July as the juvenile officer. He is single and lives in Antioch.

Patrolman Kukla worked on the North Chicago police force for two years before coming to Antioch in August of last year. He lives in the village and is married with one daughter.

SUPERVISOR COOK HAS been with the department for the past 13 years. She is a lifelong resident of Antioch and lives here with her family.

Traffic controller Weber, just recently added to the force, previously worked with the recreation department as a pre-school instructor. She lives in the village with her husband and two teenage daughters.

Four dispatchers are responsible for manning the police desk constantly. Domke has been with the department for the past four and one-half years and Stanczyk came to Antioch one year ago after serving in Round Lake as a dispatcher for four years.

Also, Ploughman, who is a native of Antioch, was added to the force in July of 1977 and Delphi was rehired as a dispatcher last March. She moved out of state four years ago and returned to Antioch with her family.

Student newspaper staff 'rained out'

Staff members of the Antioch High School student newspaper had their spirits dampened a bit when last Saturday's downpour washed out their chances of holding a successful car wash.

Thirteen students and their adviser, Mike Gordy, had planned to hold the car wash as a fund-raising activity which would have supplied the students with a portion of the money they need to enroll in a week-long journalism camp at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

"IT'S REALLY too bad," said Mr. Gordy as he glanced at the uncooperative skies. "The kids and I have been working for weeks trying to find some school fund we could tap or some person or organization that would be willing to donate a few dollars to help offset the cost of the camp for the students."

That's a lot of money ($90 per student for tuition, room and board) for a high school kid to come up with on his own," he added.

"So far we've come up with a big zero. Now it seems that even Mother Nature is working against them."

THE CAMP the students are trying to attend is the annual High School Journalism Workshop sponsored by the Kettle Moraine Press Association.

The camp is designed to give students a week of intensive journalistic training on the beginning, intermediate and advanced levels.

"After completing the workshop the students would come home to pool their new ideas and information with other staff members in the hope of improving the quality of their own high school newspaper," Mr. Gordy said.

The newspaper staff will take one more crack at holding a fund-raising car wash this Saturday at the Texaco station in Orchard Plaza, next to the A&P food store. The cost will be $1.50 for cars and $2 for vans and trucks.

Antioch's 'charisma' attracts residents community and its institutions begin to adapt themselves to the movement of people into the village and township.

While the resort industry continues to draw people to the area, Antioch has basically been converted to a town for year-round residency. Many summer homes have been converted for winter use. And with the advent of winter sports and snowmobiles, the resort industry itself has become a year-round operation.

THERE IS NO question about it. People are moving to Antioch... and liking it. They are finding the community pleasant, congenial, well-organized, sound and flourishing.

This influx of people bears tremendous consequences for both the village and township... and for their present and future trends in growth.

Population figures for the village of Antioch reveal a somewhat steady, gradual increase in population, and no real periods of dramatic or sudden growth.

Except for the period between 1930 and 1940 when the population slightly decreased, figures show a 900 to 1,000 increase in population every 10 years. It appears that the period between 1970 and 1980 will exceed this approximation.

YEAR	POPULATION
1930	1,101
1940	1,098
1950	1,307
1960	2,268
1970	3,189

DESPITE THE VILLAGE'S limited area (four square miles), construction of houses also seems to be steadily on the rise.

According to Dick Stroner, building inspector, the year of 1977 brought 40 new single family residences and 4 new commercial buildings to the village. From January to May, 1978, the figure is already 21 new buildings. So it seems that the end of the year will show an increase over last year's figure.

The cost of construction of housing in the village for the year 1977 was slightly more than $2.9 million. The average building

CERTAIN VILLAGE subdivisions, such as Village Green, are nearly completely sold out.

While the village shows a somewhat steady, even growth trend, the township has experienced more accentuated spurts in growth, especially in the area of construction of houses.

Population figures reveal a very big jump from 1940 to 1950 (more than 2,600) and thereafter similar increases until the most recent U.S. Census estimate in 1975.

YEAR	POPULATION
1930	2,337
1940	2,708
1950	5,314
1960	8,813
1970	11,639

MUCH OF THE construction in the township is occurring in subdivisions of various sizes. Some, such as Harbor Ridge, Estates, Sabrina Manor, Whitewood and Deer-Ridge, are in the process of being constructed. Others are nearly completed. Many have recently been proposed and are in the planning stages.

'Whenever you have as many real estate men as you do, you know it's gotta be developing pretty well.'

A tract of land extending down from the state line to Trevor Road has recently been annexed to the village. A 25-acre piece of land north of the village on Highway 83 and another tract of land along Route 173 have both been annexed to the village in the past 1 1/2 years.

In addition to this, many farms in the township are being sold and divided up into 5 to 7 acre lots.

"That is happening in quite a lot of places," said Bud Holtz, township assessor.

"It's been developed pretty good," said Mr. Holtz. "Whenever you have as many real estate men as you do, you know it's gotta be developing pretty well."

While the construction of vacation homes is steadily decreasing, the construction of single family, permanent residences is increasing. According to U.S. 1970 census, 81 percent of the housing in the township is ownership controlled; 89 percent of the housing is single-family units; 11 percent is multi-family units. From 1970-1977, Antioch township has experienced an 18 percent increase in housing units. As of 1974, the township of Antioch had 21.2 of its 42.2 square miles available for development.

ONE AREA OF development which will have a very strong impact upon the township and village is Harbor Ridge. At Harbor Ridge, formerly Antioch Country Club, a total of 744 townhouses and homes will eventually be built. Of the 744, 54 will be single-family houses and 690 are condominium dwellings. At Harbor Ridge Estates, north of the golf course and on the other side of Grass Lake Road, 55 one-acre lots with luxury homes have been established.

Mr. Thomas Santino, owner of the Harbor Ridge development project, said that since ground-breaking ceremonies in June of last year, a good deal of progress has taken place. Said Mr. Santino, "The first phase, 250 dwellings, is well under construction and during 1978, 20 to 30 of these homes will be occupied by the purchasers. Underground utilities and sight improvements will be completed in the next 30 days."

The average cost of single-family homes at Harbor Ridge ranges between $75,000 and $125,000.

Mr. Santino further reported that construction of a convenience shopping center will begin soon. This is to be located at the corner of Route 59 and Grass Lake Road and will include such shopping

'The lakes and their accompanying recreational facilities are important features...people seem to feel there is a secure, healthy environment here in which they can raise their children.'

facilities as a large food store, drug store, cleaners, laundry, barber shop, boutique and a new branch of the Antioch Savings and Loan Association.

IN ADDITION to the convenience center, Mr. Santino said a mini-mall within the clubhouse building is near completion and several tenants in the mall are occupying offices and shops.

"The golf course facility, which offers pool and tennis, is operating without interference due to construction of homes," Mr. Santino added.

ALL OF THIS activity in the buying and selling of land and in the construction of homes naturally brings realtors into the area. New real estate offices have appeared throughout the village, some of whom are involved with the land and houses in the subdivisions.

Poe and Poe Realtors, on Orchard Street, came to Antioch approximately one year ago as a result of the great expansion of the land and housing business in the Antioch area. Their larger office in Waukegan receives much of its clientele from major companies who transfer executives and junior executives from out-of-state to the Waukegan area. These families are then referred to the Poe and Poe office.

Mr. E.L. Wolfe, office manager of Poe and Poe Realtors in Antioch, says that people transferring in from out of state who are searching for homes are greatly attracted to the Antioch area. They feel it is a good community in which they can raise their children, are adequately impressed with the school system, are attracted to the summer and winter recreational activities on the lake, and find themselves liking the small-town atmosphere of Antioch. For these major reasons, they choose Antioch as the place they would like to live.

Mr. Wolfe said his Antioch office also deals with another type of customer - those people from more developed areas (for example, Libertyville) who desire to escape the hustle and bustle there and also who desire a home with a bigger lot.

Mr. Wolfe said the demand for houses in Antioch is much greater than the houses available, especially homes in the $50,000 to $60,000 price range.

"WE HAVE THE buyers and we need the houses," said Mr. Wolfe, who says that the great amount of real estate offices in Antioch has not affected his business.

"We really don't mind the competition at all," he said. "We're really very happy with Antioch."

WHERE DO THE great majority of people come from? According to Mr. Michael J. Haley, Antioch's mayor, many come from Chicago and its outlying suburbs. Others come from municipalities in Lake County. Others from such communities as Wheeling and Arlington Heights. Still others from Wisconsin.

And, finally, why are people coming to Antioch? For one, they are attracted to the space of the township and the small-town atmosphere of the village. Geographically the town is well-located in its proximity to Milwaukee, Chicago, Kenosha and Waukegan, and with the installation of the I-94 tollway, people can now travel to the metropolitan areas for work.

THE LAKES and their accompanying recreational facilities are also important features, as are the reputable school system and the extensive shopping areas. People seem to feel there is a secure, healthy environment here in which they can raise their children.

Finally, and perhaps most significantly, the community members themselves are yet another important part of Antioch's attributes and charms. Those moving into the area are impressed with the close-knit community where people really seem to care about each other and are actively involved in what is going on.

And this, perhaps, is the greatest tribute to Antioch, for a community can only be as good as the people who live in it and make it work.

(Next week: Through the generosity of some of our senior citizens, we will be able to catch a glimpse of the Antioch of another era and the spirit which has helped the community to evolve to what it is today.)

'Despite the village's limited area (four square miles) construction of houses seems to be steadily on the rise.'

permit administered by the village runs between $42,000 and $55,000. This figure does not include the cost of the land. The minimum cost of a lot in Antioch village is between $14,000 and $20,000.

Presently, most of the construction of new housing is taking place in three major village subdivisions: Sequoia Terrace, Oakwood Knolls and Westgate. Oakwood Knolls is the oldest of the three subdivisions, having been developed gradually over the past 25 years. Presently, Oakwood Knolls is three-fourths completed.

Are teams afraid to play Jaycees?

The Antioch Jaycees are challenging other service organizations or business establishments to softball games.

"We play 16-inch slow-pitch," said Bill Groeninger of the Jaycees, "and teams that would like to play us can contact Chuck Spillner at 395-6047."

Most of the organizations in town apparently are afraid to play us after they have seen the talent we have displayed in past years," said Groeninger. "This year, for the Moose Lodge, we are willing to bat left-handed if they are not too chicken to play us," said Groeninger, softening the remark with a smile.

Last year the Jaycees raised $150 for charity in their softball challenges and they would like to do more, this year. Spillner

Vikings seek players and cheerleaders

The Antioch Viking junior tackle football program Friday and Saturday will hold its first registration for the coming season.

Boys who will be in the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades, and will not have reached age 15 as of Sept. 1, can sign up at the Scout House on Friday between 6 and 9 p.m., or Saturday between 9 a.m. and 12 noon.

Boys will be assigned to teams according to their size, age and ability.

THIS YEAR the Vikings will field six teams. A heavyweight team will be composed of boys mostly in the 7th and 8th grades who weigh in excess of 110 lbs., and four featherweight instructional teams will be composed of boys in the 5th and 6th grades.

A registration fee of $18 per boy ($15 for each additional boy in the same family) covers use of equipment, league fees, officials' costs and a practice jersey, which the boy gets to keep at the end of the season.

A parent must accompany the boy to sign a permission form and should bring a copy of a birth certificate which can be retained.

THE VIKINGS plan their first practice Aug. 14 at the high school practice field.

Girls entering the 6th, 7th and 8th grades who are interested in cheerleading can register at the same times. The fee is $5 per girl and a parent must sign a permission form.

King Richard's faire opens

Again this year, the Sixth Annual King Richard's Faire will offer specific themes on each weekend, giving visitors the chance to view and participate in a variety of unique medieval events.

This summer's Faire opened Saturday, July 1 on the permanent pastoral site located 1/4 of a mile from the Russell Road-Interstate 94 interchange, which is located quite close to the Illinois-Wisconsin state line.

The second weekend will feature a Renaissance Cross Country Horse Race on July 8 and 9. The concept behind this theme weekend closely resembles last year's cross country horse race, organizers said, however this year riders will race around a path that encircles his majesty's new man-made lake in the back of the site.

Contestants will be vying for the $1000 top prize. The second place finisher in the horse race will win $300, and the third place finisher will receive $100. A special prize will be awarded to the best costumed horse and rider. Preliminary heats will take place throughout the weekend with the finals beginning Sunday afternoon, July 9.

The third weekend will offer a Royal Mime Festival on July 15 and 16. This finds a new feature in theme weekend programming. Organizers said countless mimes from all over the Midwest will compete for solo and group honors by performing the best solo or group "mime piece."

Mimes will be judged on creativity, technique and imagination, with the best solo "mime piece" receiving $300 and the runner-up receiving $200. The best group

A TOTAL OF 32 trophies will be presented in the boys and girls divisions, for first, second, third and fourth place in each age group. The State Bank will also give T-shirts and tennis towels to all participants.

Younger contestants will play preliminary rounds at the high school while older teens will begin at the Jensen Park courts. The finals will be played on Sunday, July 23, at Jensen Park.

STATE BOWLING FINALISTS and those who qualified for tourney finals assemble at Antioch Bowling Lanes, where they began competition. Jeff Miller, 14, left, and Kelly Stender, 14, bottom left, both competed in the State Singles Finals in the Youth Bowling Assn. held in DeKalb. Mabel Weber and her son Joe, 14, bottom right, are in the junior division of the Illinois Family Championship bowling finals and Joe Gutowski and his son Jim, 16, top right, are in the senior division of that tourney, to be held Saturday in Westchester. If they win, they will go on to play in the nationals in Washington D.C.

Antioch swimmers lose, but improve

By CAROL BERRY

The Antioch swim team, sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch, was on the losing end of a 245-207 score when it competed against the Brentwood team from Waukegan.

The "A" squad of Antioch managed to capture 23 first places, 25 seconds and 20 thirds of the 52 events.

Antioch swimmers scoring the highest points in individual events were Matt Zavaski, Kaky Kelly, Garrett Fleming, John Bellucci, Shelly Volling and Sue Harrison.

New to the Antioch team, and to competitive swimming, 8-year-old Ann Lalloos pleased the coaches when, with one practice prior to the meet, she won a second place ribbon in the backstroke event.

Coach Marty Berry commented, "Brentwood's strength and depth were just too much for our team to handle at this point in time, but we're improving steadily and by the end of the season we should give them a 'run for the money'."

FOUR MORE MEETS await the Antioch swimmers in the next week. On Thursday the "B" team swims at Brentwood at 5 p.m. and the "A" team competes at Cary at 6:30.

Saturday, the conference relays will begin at Plum Grove at 9 a.m. and, next Tuesday, the "B" team races against Plum Grove here at 5:45 p.m.

King Richard's faire

"mime piece" will be awarded $200.

THE FOURTH WEEK will feature the Queen's Chess Tourney on July 22 and 23. Once again, the Chicago Chess and Backgammon Club will challenge the Milwaukee Municipal Chess Association in a battle of wits using human chess pieces. A panel of experts from each organization will recreate famous chess games from a master book throughout the weekend.

On the fifth weekend, the faire will offer His Majesty's Cannine Show on July 29 and 30. Citizens of the realm are invited to bring their dogs to the faire to be judged in the following categories, all of which will receive cash awards: Sir Benji Award for All-Around Excellence; His Highness (biggest); His Lowness (smallest); and the Least Likely to Succeed (but lovable). All costumed owners and dogs will be admitted free; costumed dogs without owners will also be admitted free.

The sixth weekend will offer a Royal Sand Castle Construction on August 5 and 6. Contestants, either individual or group, will be asked to construct a gothic through baroque style sand castle. The winning construction will receive $200, and the runner-up will receive $100. All architects are required to be in costume.

To attend the faire, take I-94 to the Russell Road exit, which is very close to the Illinois-Wisconsin state line. Follow the signs to King Richard's Faire immediately after exiting onto Russell Road. There is plenty of free parking for everyone.

Local health fields offer opportunities

In Lake County and in most parts of the nation, health fields such as nursing, laboratory technology and radiology provide increasing opportunities for employment.

The training required ranges from one to four years and the pay varies with the shift, place of employment and training and experience level of the person employed. Diana Vickery of the College of Lake County said.

The demand for registered nurses in Lake County is excellent, she added, with many openings in hospitals, nursing homes and other settings, including industry. The entry level pay is between $10,000 and $12,000 annually.

Registered nurses need a minimum of two years training and many receive a four-year degree before taking the registry examination.

Licensed practical nurses (LPN) receive slightly less pay but need less training - a minimum of one year before taking a licensing examination. LPN's may work in hospitals, nursing homes or private homes.

Both medical lab technicians and radiological technologists have a variety of employment prospects in hospitals, pharmaceutical houses and, for the radiological technologists, in industry.

Persons who anticipate entering health fields must have a desire to work with people and an ability to serve persons who may not be in the best spirits due to illness or injury. They should also have an aptitude for biology and chemistry, Vickery said.

Most health fields are expected to continue growing through the year 2000 and for those who have the willingness, aptitude and desire, these fields will provide satisfying work for many years.

Information about these and other health field opportunities may be obtained by calling the CLC counseling or placement office at 223-6601. The College offers programs leading to registered nursing, licensed practical nursing, radiological technology and laboratory technology and other health careers.

Percentage up at CLC's summer session

The number of students enrolled in the College of Lake County's summer session has increased by seven percent over last year's enrollment.

A report issued June 12 by Mark Powell, assistant director of admission and records, shows the current enrollment of 4,481 exceeds last year's summer enrollment by 296 students.

A significant portion of this increase is due to additional participation in the College's continuing education programs; the number of persons in credit-free courses has more than doubled.

Approximately 80 percent of the students attend part time. The majority, 54 percent, attend evening classes, and more than one-third are new students attending the College of Lake County for the first time.

Although the number of male students has remained basically unchanged, the report indicates that the number of female students who have enrolled for summer classes has increased by 14 percent. Women comprise 57 percent of the total summer enrollment.

Most of the students, 41 percent, are in programs designed to transfer to other colleges and universities. The number of students enrolled in career programs is 1,701 or 38 percent.

The remaining 21 percent are enrolled in General Studies and credit-free courses.
